Westfield outlasts WNEC 21-6

WESTFIELD, Mass. – Sophomore tailback Luke Johnson (South Attleboro) rushed 28 times for 155 yards and a touchdown to Westfield State to a 21-6 victory over Western New England College in the annual President's Trophy game in a non-divisional New England Football Conference match-up on Friday evening, Sept. 11.

Westfield (2-0) leads the all-time series, 13-8; the Owls have won the last three meetings between the Western Mass. rivals.

The opportunistic Owls and their bend-but-no-break defense forced five turnovers despite allowing the Golden Bears (1-1) to rack up 390 yards in total offense and 25 first downs. Westfield, meanwhile, only committed one turnover.

WNEC out-gained Westfield, 246-89, in the first half but the Owls held a 14-6 halftime edge as they converted two turnovers into quick touchdowns.

Westfield's first touchdown was set up when junior cornerback Mike Jolicoeur (Wilbraham) returned an interception 34 yards.

Johnson capped the 14-yard drive with a five-yard touchdown run.

Western New England scored its only points early in the second quarter on an 18-yard pass from senior quarterback Justin Walz (Groton, CT) to sophomore receiver Kenny Muhlack (Groton, CT). The PAT attempt was blocked by senior lineman Matt Fall (Wilbraham).

The Owls scored with 47 second remaining in the first half on a 4-yard scamper by sophomore quarterback Kyle Anderson (Westminster). The eight-play 34-yard drive was set up on senior defensive back Nick Leverone's (Natick) 18-yard interception return.

Owls overcome obnoxious set backs

WESTFIELD-Taunting, cow bells, and pounding on the bleachers from the Western New England College volleyball fans may have gotten to the Owls early but Westfield would power on to win both Saturday games.

The Owls played a total of four games this weekend in the WNEC tournament in Springfield Massachusetts, breaking even with two losses and two wins. Friday night WNEC overpowered the Owls winning the game 3-1.

"During the WNEC game, as a team, we had to face poor sportsmanship from their fans," said junior, middle blocker Maura McLaughlin. "They were pounding on the bleachers and using cow bells as distractions while we were serving the ball."

Assistant Coach Lisa Wetherell says it's all just part of the game. "Its just a matter of the players being used to it and learning how to focus through anything," said Coach Wetherell.

Westfield headed into their second game at the WNEC tournament against Western Connecticut and although putting up a good fight fell to the Colonials 3-2.

"Even though we lost the Western Connecticut game I still feel like that was one of the best games that we had for this weekend," said McLaughlin. "We never gave up and we went down with a fight."

Teammate Rachel Ryan would agree. "We went to five games against Western Connecticut. It was a close match and both teams were fairly equal. The game was close throughout and we lost by a few points," said Ryan.

Westfield Owls would get a nights rest and then become a force to be reckon with on Saturday. That morning they had a practice session in which the coaches were purposefully trying to distract the girls as they served, preparing them for anything that might come their way in their last two games.

The girls would not only win both games but each and every match they set up for. The Owls surged past Bay Path 3-0 and followed it with another 3-0 win against Newbury.

"I feel like we could have focused a little better Friday night, but the second half of the weekend we played awesome," said Coach Wetherell.

The Westfield Owls now have their sights set on the Massachusetts State College Athletic Conference Tournament. However in order to be MASCAC champions Coaches agree they have some things to work on.

"We need to focus on finishing the match, no let downs and just playing steady through out the whole match," said assistant coach Paul Alfonso.

This years team looks to be one of the best as the girls would also take all three matches against Elm this past Tuesday night here at Woodward Center.

"My coaches each come from a different background in volleyball which makes them a great team," said McLaughlin. "They make us work harder then any of us could do on our own." This year it seems as though head coach Fred Glanville has been paired up with a confident group of girls.

"Each one of us has a very different personality," said Ryan. "We all bring something to the team and that is our biggest strength this year." The Owls will be put to the test for the remainder of their regular season with only two home games and eighteen away games including two more tournaments.

"It's nice to play on different venues," said Coach Wetherell. "That way if you do travel for the [MASCAC] tournament your used to playing in all these different places."

Team captains Stephanie Bartkus and Sarah Goodridge will attempt to motivate their Owls to a four game winning streak in Newton Massachusetts this Thursday. The girls are looking forward to a big home crowd on Saturday for a MASCAC game against Salem State. "This season is destined to be better than the rest," McLaughlin tells fans. "We only have two more home games and we want you to be a part of them."

Westfield's women's soccer and volleyball teams were both crowned MASCAC champions last Saturday. The women's soccer team won their second straight MASCAC tournament championship with a 3-1 win over MCLA to improve to 16-1-2 on the season. Freshman Colleen Bazinet scored the Owls' first goal and senior Meg Gearin, the MASCAC regular season MVP, broke a 1-1 tie with a goal of her own. Tournament MVP Kate MacLellan had 2 assists and senior Colleen Kenney added a late goal to seal the 3-1 win. The team will head to New York tomorrow to take on the University of Rochester at 5:00 p.m. in the first round of the NCAA Division III national tournament.

The women's volleyball team (19-15) took a 3 set to 1 victory over Bridgewater State in the championship game of the MASCAC tournament to earn its first ever bid in the NCAA Division III tournament. Sophomore setter Kerin DeGirolamo had an impressive 43 assists for the Owls and sophomore Alex Shaw added 12 kills. The team will take on the University of Massachusetts Boston in the first round of the eight-team New England bracket of the Division III tournament.

The men's soccer team (9-8-2) came very close to making it three champions in one day, but fell just short and took a tough 1-0 loss to Salem State in the MASCAC championship game. The Owls played strong defense and goalie Lucas Dexter had 5 saves, but Salem was able to score a goal in the 78th minute to take a 1-0 lead and Westfield was unable to even the score. But the Owls season is not over, as the team earned a bid in the ECAC New England Division III Tournament and will host Anna Maria College in the first round.

The WSC football team won its fifth straight game and captured the MASCAC regular season championship with a 33-16 win over Worcester State last Saturday. The team improved to 7-3 overall with the win but ended the season just a win short of qualifying to play in the New England Football Conference Championship Game. Quarterback Kyle Anderson led the Owls with three touchdowns on 172 yards passing and Steve Skribiski rushed for 114 yards. The win marked the end of a very good year for the MASCAC Champion Owls even though they were unable to make it to the NEFC championship.

The winter sports season at Westfield is also beginning, and the men and women's basketball teams will both tip off the 2009 season this Sunday at the Woodward Center. The women's team will face U-Mass Dartmouth at 1:00 p.m. and the men's team will take on Curry College at 3:00 p.m. The men's ice hockey team began its season with a 5-4 win over Western New England College in the Falcons Cup Game on November 6th. Westfield pool scheduled to open after Thanksgiving break

By Caitlin Penndorf
Editor-in-Chief

Westfield State College continues to improve.

The swimming pool, which has been closed since Spring semester, 2009, is scheduled to reopen after Thanksgiving break.

The pool has undergone some big changes since last year.

If you've looked into the pool area while sipping coffee at Jazzman's lately, you'll have seen the staging that's overtaken the pool.

According to an e-mail from Assistant Vice President of Facilities and Operations, Curt Robie, "the new anti-vortex drains required by new federal and state legislation have been installed in the floor of the pool. Repairs to the filtration system have also been 95% completed."

The Women's swim team will be able to return to the WSC pool now that repairs have been made.

While improvements are usually welcome, there is one group on campus who feels the changes have been more of a burden. This group is the Westfield State College Swim Team.

According to an article written by Jen Atkins last semester for the Westfield State College Athletics website, the swim team was split up around Western Mass for practices. Some divers had to head over to Springfield College, and other members of the team had to utilize pools at the Westfield Boys and Girls Club, the YMCA and Westfield High School.

"We all feel the affects of our pool being shut down. We have gotten our hopes up for the reopening for about three months now. Not having a pool on campus has really hurt our team as a whole, now we are two separate teams who just come together on Saturdays to compete together," said senior swim team member Jenn Butler.

According to Robie's e-mail, a structural crack unveiled itself while working on the old lighting over the pool, which pushed back the completion of the pool that was originally scheduled for the end of September 2009.

While Butler feels the pool closing has made things more difficult, she's has optimistic thoughts about the future.

"Swimming and diving are on one team. I do not see the dive team for the whole week until Saturday when we have meets. Shutting the pool down has torn this team apart into different pools and different times, maybe now we can be a team again," said Butler.

Other improvements to the pool include a new pool liner, repairs to the deck tile and new pool trains, amongst other repairs.

Owls swept in basketball doubleheader

By Robbie Donoghue
Voice Reporter Jan 29, 2010

Westfield State College's men's and women's basketball teams played a home doubleheader Tuesday night against Fitchburg State College. Both teams played close games in front of a large crowd at the Woodward Center, but neither was able to come out victorious.

The women's team (7-11) tipped off the action with a 67-56 loss to Fitchburg. Westfield led early in both halves, but Fitchburg was able to keep the game within striking distance and eventually pulled ahead.

The score was close through most of the game and the halftime score was a 30-30 tie.

The Owls were down late in the game and were close to making a comeback, but Fitchburg hit all of their shots and free throws in the final few minutes and were able to pull away with the victory. Junior forward Ashley Finnegan led Westfield with 18 points and 8 rebounds while junior center Cassy Jouannet added 10 points and 3 rebounds.

The men's team (8-11) played in the second game and also lost a close game, 70-66. Westfield led at halftime by a score of 27-26, but Fitchburg's offense came out hot in the second half and got the better of the Owls' defense.

Fitchburg extended their second half lead to 61-51 with 7:32 remaining in the game, but Westfield was able to come back and make it a 64-61 game with 2:32 left. But Westfield was unable to hit a shot to tie the game and Fitchburg was able to ice the game with free throws.

Senior forward Joe Dicruttalo led the Owls with 15 points, 9 rebounds and 5 assists and freshmen center Matt Devine added 10 points, 8 rebounds and 6 blocks. Freshman guard Lee Vazquez also chipped in 13 points and 5 rebounds and sophomore guard Nate Pollard led all scorers with 16 points in the loss.

There was also a special ceremony held at halftime of the men's game honoring Westfield's volleyball team and Westfield cross-country runner Kerry Arouca for their outstanding performances during the fall sports season.

The women's volleyball team won the 2009 MASCAC Championship and earned a bid in the NCAA Division III tournament for the first time in the program's history. Kerry Arouca finished 19th overall at the NCAA Division III national women's cross country championships and was named a Division III All-American.

Westfield State senior Gomes runs to success

By Matt LaPan Jan 29, 2010
Voice Reporter

Marc Gomes Jr. is a 22 year-old senior from Springfield, Massachusetts and is a member of the Westfield State track team. This season alone Marc has already broken his own school record in the 55-meter dash, and owns two other school records. Saying Marc is fast is an understatement, but little do most people know, Marc has been running his whole life from the grips of poverty and gangs.

Gomes grew up in a family of ten. In his home growing up were himself, his mother Cindy, six brothers and two sisters. Where was Gomes' father you might ask?

"My father, Marc Gomes Sr. left my life when I was about four years-old. I didn't see him again until I was about 11 (years-old). That year he was locked up for murder so I have not seen him since then."

"When I was seven (years-old) a man who I call my father, Tom Nicholas, came into my life."

Shortly thereafter, more tragedy struck in Gomes' life. Tom Nicholas was struck by a car and laid in a coma for three years. This left Gomes and his family without a home, and without enough money to survive. The only alternative for Gomes and his family was living in local shelters.

"I think we (Gomes and his family) lived in about six shelters. We were in a shelter for a total of about three years." For some, living in an inner city shelter leads to a life of crime, drugs and gangs.

"There were drug dealers, and there were crack heads. So just because we were in the shelter, didn't mean that we were safe."

This did not get to Gomes, however. "I don't smoke. I've never smoked a cigarette, anything. I've never drunk alcohol in my life. But it could have been easy for me to easily go to the streets like most of my friends did."

How did Gomes overcome all of these odds? One way has been through family. After the tragic accident involving his stepfather Tom Nicholas, Gomes went to live with his Aunt and Uncle in Virginia. Clarence and Linda Nicholas took Marc in as one of their own while he tried to straighten his life out after Tom's accident.

Marc Gomes is a student athlete at Westfield State College.

However, when Tom died, Marc returned home from Virginia to help his mother take care of his family. This happened when Marc was only 16 years-old.

"The day before I was supposed to go back to Virginia, right before my sophomore year, my father (Tom Nicholas) died. It was hard for my mom raising 10 kids by herself so I came home to help her out."

This return marked a turning point for Marc. After returning home he eventually met his future wife, Tanaesha. Marc and Tanaesha have been married since March 2008 and Gomes credits his wife for keeping him from going down the wrong path. Even if his wife may not love the fact that Gomes is in the Navy, she still supports him through thick and thin.

"Well she (Tanaesha) doesn't love it but she likes to travel, and that's one thing about the Navy is you get to see the world. So she supports me still."

Another major influence on Gomes' life has been sports. Gomes started playing sports in high school where he played football, basketball, and ran track for the High School of Commerce in Springfield.

"I wasn't a football player really and I wasn't great at basketball, but using the skills that my father (Tom Nicholas) gave me I was able to excel in sports."

Gomes is a standout track athlete at Westfield State College. He currently sits third in division three New England in the 55-meter dash (6.50 seconds), first in the 200-meter dash (22.58 seconds), and is yet to run his strongest event, the 400-meter dash. "Track here (Westfield State) has been huge. Everyone here respects me, and I really enjoy being on this team."

According to teammate Anthony Stomski, "I may not be best friends with (Marc) Gomes, but he is an amazing athlete. People train for years to get to where he's at and it's a true testament of how hard he works to see the times he puts up."

When Gomes graduates in May, he will be an honors student. Gomes also plans to continue his career with the Navy, where he plans to work for Navy hospitals within the next 25 to 30 years.

He would like to get his masters in Naval Medicine and serve treating wounded soldiers. He finally plans to travel the world with his wife and possibly continue running for the Navy.

Just think, somebody who had no help growing up now wants to dedicate his life to helping others. This shows how far Marc has run from his past, to make an amazing future.

DUDLEY, Mass. (Sept. 10) – Sophomore Lauren Correia (Seekonk, Mass.) scored the game-winning goal with just over 15 minutes left to cap a Nichols College comeback as the Bison defeated visiting Westfield State , 2-1, in non-conference field hockey action on Vendetti Field Tuesday evening. The Owls even up at 1-1 on the season while the Bison improve to 3-0. -

Westfield State held a one-goal lead for most of the game courtesy of a Jessica Donovan (Methuen, Mass.) score in the eighth minute of the first frame. Alicia Gardner (Athol, Mass.) broke away from the Nichols defense and streaked up the left wing from midfield before passing to Donovan in the arc. Donovan's shot eluded Nichols rookie goalkeeper Krista-Jean Forand (Plymouth, Mass.) for the lead.

On the opposite end of the field, Owls' netminder Amanda McCarthy (Franklin, Mass.) came up big, making 11 stops in the first frame to keep the Bison off the board, despite 10 corner opportunities for the home team. Nichols finished with an 18-3 penalty corner advantage in the game.

It took until late in the game for the Bison to thwart McCarthy, netting a pair of scores less than five minutes apart to take the lead.

Mary Kate Frodema (Springfield, Mass.) sparked the scoring in the 51st minute with her first score of the year, banging home a long corner from Chelsea Correia (Seekonk, Mass.).

Lauren Correia followed in the 55th minute by knocking in a short pass in front of the net from Eileen Clinton (Londonderry, N.H.).

Forand earned her third win of the season with just two saves, while McCarthy shouldered the loss with 14 stops.

Nichols is back in action at Salve Regina Saturday at 1 p.m. in the Bison's The Commonwealth Coast Conference opener. Westfield State hosts Worcester State Saturday at 1 p.m. in the Owls' MASCAC opener.

Webcasting program ready to take off

Articles By Matt Lapan
Voice Reporter MARCH 5, 2010

With 19 varsity sports at Westfield State College, it is often hard for students to find enough time in their day to check them all out.

Whether it the event is too far away, too late, or the weather is just too bad to walk all the way to the Woodward Center students will always have a reason on why they cannot go.

However a program that started this year will make it so that every student has an opportunity to see all Westfield State varsity athletic games next school year.

That program is the online webcasting program.

The program was started two years ago by Associate Athletics Director/Sports Information Mickey Curtis, but did not take on a fully functioning form until this school year.

This year the program extended to cover home football, soccer, and basketball games when in years past the program only covered home football and select basketball games.

In past years, the webcasting program has faced the problem of not having a "Voice of the Owls", or a lead broadcaster. This year that problem was solved when Curtis assembled a broadcast team of Matt LaPan, Bryan Stockhaus, and James Clover.

The broadcast team was one of the most successful in the MASCAC conference, being heard around the world by over 500 people.

"I loved the program," said Westfield State Junior, and co-lead broadcaster Bryan Stockhaus. "It was a very professional and we were able to bring the program from nothing to a success."

According to a source with the webcasting program, "the program is on its way up.

We have already been approved to get new equipment and expand the number of people that are able to listen to games at any given point."

The program allowed only 200 listeners per game this year, but did transition form a cost of $5 per game, to a free listener's fee.

This made the program more accessible to students and parents who have children playing on varsity teams.

Next year the webcast will be open to an unlimited number of viewers per game and will stay free to all viewers.

"The program can only get better with the new equipment," says Stockhaus. "Also when we get more people to join the team it will become far more organized and reach a larger audience."

According to the head of the webcasting program, "Next season games will again be free to view and available on MASCAC.tv.

The program is also accepting applications for new members to the team.

If you are interested in becoming a member contact Matt LaPan at wscbroadcast@yahoo.com with a list of your prior experience and what you would like to be."

So next year students will no longer have an excuse to miss their friends' field hockey game because they were "at home," because that game will only be a click away.

Injured star continues to help team

MARCH 5, 2010

Anthony Stomski is a senior at Westfield State College and is a star member of the college's track and field team. As a junior, Stomski missed being a national qualifier in the hammer throw by less than a foot.

However this year, due to injuries to both feet, Stomski cannot even compete. But he is still helping the track team win. One might ask, "How can he do this?"

Stomski is continuing to help his team by becoming a volunteer coach. This means that Stomski is still part of the team he led last year, however he is now molding the teammates that he competed with, and against last year.

"I like helping [my teammates] out. It's nice to see my teammates succeed and I'm glad I can be the one to help them," said Stomski.

And help Stomski has. In his first season as volunteer coach, Stomski has led all of the track and field athletes to vast improvement during their indoor season.

"Anthony has been huge in my improvement this year," said junior Josh Gillcoine. "I'm glad that Stomski has stayed with the team and passed his technique on, rather then just leaving the team."

Stomski has had a lot of training in coaching since his father, Mike Stomski, is the throwing coach for Worchester Polytechnic Institute and is considered one of the better coaches in Division III New England.

"All the practices that we've had together [Stomski and his father] and all the time we have spent throwing, you really start to pick up on the things he [Mike Stomski] tells you," said the younger Stomski. "When he coaches other people, I am always listening because you can pick up on a lot of tips by seeing other throwers throw. Part of being a good coach is being a good student."

Athlete Anthony Stomski continues to help out the track and field team despite his injury.

"You have to be willing to learn, even as a coach, because every little tip helps. Every day I am learning more and passing it along to my former team mates, which are now my athletes," Stomski added.

As winter season turns to spring, Stomski will now have a chance to help the track team by passing on tips to his specialty, the hammer throw.

As Westfield looks to continue to hold the reputation of having a great throwing team, Stomski will be key. Because even with an injury, this all-star is still helping his team win.

CLERMONT, Fla. - Senior catcher Gia Calabrese was 3 for 4 with five RBI, a home run and a double to power Westfield State to a 12-5 victory over Fairleigh Dickinson-Florham (N.J.) in its softball season opener on a windy and chilly Sunday night, March 14, [redacted] central Florida.

Also providing power in the Owls' 16-hit onslaught were seniors Kim Brennan (3 for 4, two RBI, homer) and Allison Allen (3 for 4, two RBI, homer) and junior Alicia Gardner (3 for 5, triple).

Brennan opened the scoring for the Owls with a two-run inside-the-park homer in the first inning. The big blow in the first frame was a three-run double by Calabrese that nearly went over the left field fence.

Westfield tacked on two more runs in the second and two tallies in the third inning, including a towering solo shot by Calabrese over left field fence.

FDU-Florham scored three runs in the third and two in the fifth to make the score 9-5. But the Owls put away the game with a three-run uprising in the sixth. Allen crushed a mammoth two-run homer to straightway center field and Calabrese beat out an infield single to drive in her fifth run.

Sophomore Madelaine Tomich went the distance for the pitching victory. She gave up 12 hits, five runs and three walks while striking out 12.

Westfield Tops Plattsburgh, 7-5

Owls' Comeback Victory Goes Eight Innings

Westfield sophomore pitcher Madeline Tomich recorded 14 strikeouts in Westfield's big victory over Plattsburgh State.

Box Score

CLERMONT, Fla. – Westfield State bounced back from a tough loss earlier in the day for a 7-5 eight-inning comeback victory over Plattsburgh (N.Y.) State on Monday afternoon, March 15.

The Owls, who gave up two runs in the last inning of a 3-2 loss to Ripon (Wis.) College on Monday morning, own a 2-1 record. The setback was Plattsburgh's first in five starts.

Westfield took a 2-0 lead in the top of the fifth on RBI singles by Kim Brennan and Allison Allen. But Plattsburgh scored three times in the home half of the fifth for a 3-2 lead. A two-out throwing error by Westfield pitcher Madelaine Tomich scored the game-tying run, then Plattsburgh took a 3-2 lead on a suicide squeeze bunt.

Westfield sent the game into extra innings with a run in the seventh. Brennan drew a one-out walk and advanced to second on Allen's groundout. Pinch hitter Brianna Isaacs then hit a routine grounder to the shortstop. But instead of throwing to first base for the game's final out, the shortstop threw the ball to second. Plattsburgh did have Brennan picked off second base but an errant throw by the shortstop allowed her to scamper to third base. Gia Calabrese then delivered a clutch game-tying single to left field.

The Owls scored four big runs in the eighth inning. With Kristyn Carroll beginning the inning at second base, Danielle Lutenegger was hit by a pitch. Cassy Jouannet sacrificed the runners to second and third and Alicia Gardner dipped an RBI single to right field.

Brennan followed with an RBI single and Allen drove in a run with a groundout. Lisa Policelli added an insurance tally with a bunt RBI single.

Tomich went the distance for the pitching victory. The sophomore right hander struck out 14 and gave up five walks and one earned run.

Westfield out-hit Plattsburg, 12-5. Gardner was 3 for 4 and Brennan and Allen both rapped two singles.

Tomich, a sophomore pitcher from Alford, Mass. in the Berkshires, allowed one hit and an unearned run while striking out 17 in 12 innings of work on week for Owls.

Tomich tossed a one-hit, 11 strikeout performance in a 6-1 victory at Fitchburg State to go with a five-inning no-hitter in 12-0 triumph at Smith.

Westfield is scheduled to host Worcester State in key conference doubleheader Saturday, April 10. The Owls will also host Amherst College Wednesday, April 7 and Keene State Thursday, April 8.

WESTFIELD, Mass. – Sophomore Madeline Tomich (Alford, Mass./Everett HS) pitched a no-hitter in a 7-2 second-game victory and Westfield rallied for a 4-3 victory in the opener to sweep a doubleheader from Amherst College in non-conference softball action Wednesday, April 7.

The Owls improved to 12-4 while the Lord Jeffs dropped to 11-9.

Despite Tomich's pitching gem, Westfield also had to rally to win the nightcap as Amherst scored two runs in the top of the third to take a 2-0 lead.

The sophomore right hander had a shaky third inning as she walked two batters and hit two batters. Also, there were two stolen bases, two wild pitches and a passed ball in Amherst's two-run third inning.

Tomich overcame the wild streak and finished the game with seven strikeouts and five walks. Westfield only committed one error, an errant throw by Tomich on a bunt.

The Owls, who collected nine hits, tied the score in the home half of the third. Kerin DeGirolamo clubbed an RBI double and advanced to third on an outfield throwing error. Alicia Gardner then ripped an RBI single to right field.

Westfield pushed across five runs on four hits and two Amherst errors in the decisive sixth inning. Kristyn Carroll led off with an infield single and advanced to second on Cassy Jouannet's bunt. Carroll moved to third on a sharp single to left field by Brittany Dussault.

The winning run then scored on a throwing error when Dussault stole second and the Amherst catcher overthrew the third baseman in an attempt to pick off Carroll at third base.

The Owls then delivered the knockout blow on an RBI single by Lisa Policelli and a two-run double by Gardner.

Gardner was 2 for 4 with three RBI and Jouannet continued her fine hitting, going 2 for 2 with a double. Policelli was 2 for 3 with a triple and RBI.

Trailing 3-1 in the opener, Westfield scored three runs in the bottom of the fifth for its 4-3 triumph. Two of the runs were unearned as Amherst committed two costly errors.

Jouannet ripped a one-out single in the fifth. Danielle Lutenegger reached on a fielder's choice while pinch runner Heather Peltier was safe at second base. Policelli then rapped an RBI single to center field and runners advanced to second and third on the throw home.

DeGirolamo then flied out to short right field and Lutenegger tagged up. Lutenegger would have been thrown out by at least five feet but the catcher dropped the outfield throw for an error, allowing Lutenegger to score.

Westfield then scored the game-winning run in an unusual way. After Lutenegger scored, the catcher threw the ball back to the pitcher in the circle but her throw was errant, allowing Policelli to scamper from third base for the winning run.

Amherst took a 1-0 third-inning lead on back-to-back two-out doubles by Emily Neill and Stephanie Clegg.

Westfield tied the score in the bottom of the fourth when DeGirolamo lined a screaming solo home run over the left field fence.

The Owls nearly took a 2-1 lead in the fourth when Kim Brennan's towering blast for a double hit the top of the fence.

Amherst scored two unearned runs in the fifth to take a 3-1 lead. Christina Anderson and Reilly Horan delivered RBI singles.

Amherst out-hit Westfield, 7-5, and stranded 11 base runners. Anderson led the Lord Jeffs balanced attack, going 2 for 4 with an RBI.

No player had more than one hit for the Owls.

Freshman Courtney Begin again pitched well in relief to notch the victory. She hurled the final two and a third innings, replacing starter Ashtyn Welcome.

Cassy Jouannet rips a single to center field for one of her three hits in Westfield's doubleheader sweep of Amherst.

WESTFIELD, Mass. – Sophomore Lisa Policelli pounded a two-out, two-run double in the bottom of the eighth inning to lead Westfield State to a 4-3 extra-inning victory over Keene State to complete a doubleheader softball sweep on Thursday, April 8.

Westfield, now 14-4 with nine straight victories, won the first game of the non-conference twinbill, 3-2. Keene State is 10-8.

In the second game, Keene State took a 3-2 lead as it scored a run in the eighth inning on a wild pitch. In Westfield's final at bat, Kristyn Carroll started the inning at second base and advanced to third on a wild pitch.

Cassy Jouannet grounded out on a comebacker to the pitcher, with Carroll staying at third. Brittany Dussault then hit a grounder down the third base line that Keene State pitcher Samantha Pratt cleanly fielded. In an outstanding defensive play, Pratt double pumped twice to first base then threw out Carroll attempting to score the game-tying run for the second out.

Danielle Lutenegger reached safely on an infield single to place runners and first and second. Policelli then blasted her stunning game-winning hit, a double to deep left field that easily scored both base runners.

Keene State took a 2-0 first-inning lead on RBI singles by Laura Chandler and Nicole Dupuis. Westfield scored a run in the second inning on Cassey Jouannet's RBI single up the middle.

Westfield tied the score in the fifth on singles by Alicia Gardner and Kim Brennan and a two-out fielding error by the shortstop.

Westfield out-hit Keene, 9-5. Policelli and Brennan both had a double and single.

Sophomore Madeline Tomich was the winning pitcher. She allowed five hits and four walks in eight innings and struck out six.

In the opener, Westfield also received solid pitching performances from sophomore Ashtyn Welcom and freshman Courtney Begin. Welcome scattered eight hits over six complete innings; she walked one and struck out four. Begin recorded the final three outs for the pitching save.

Westfield took a 1-0 second-inning lead on an RBI double by Jouannet. Keene tied the score in the third on the first of two sacrifice flies by Katie Bradford.

Westfield scored two unearned runs in the home half of the third to take a 3-1 lead. Policelli walked and was safe at second on a throwing error on Kerin DeGirolamo's fielder's choice grounder. Gardner walked to load the bases then Brennan blooped an RBI single down the right field line. Brianna Isaacs followed with an RBI groundout.

Keene State mounted a serious scoring threat in its final at bat. Three straight singles loaded the bases, then Bradford drove in a run with a sacrifice fly on a wicked shot to left field. But Begin silenced the threat as she got two fielder's choice groundouts to third base.

Keene out-hit Westfield, 9-7. Haley Chandler was 3 for 4 and Sara Stocklinski was 2 for 3. Carroll and Jouannet both belted a double and single.

Game Two Box Score

WESTFIELD, Mass. – Junior Michaella Mahoney (Shrewsbury) was the winning pitcher in both games and drove in four runs, including a dramatic two-run homer in the top of the seventh inning of game two, to lead Worcester State to a 6-4, 4-3 doubleheader sweep over Westfield State in MASCAC softball action Saturday, April 10.

The Lancers improved to 4-0 in the MASCAC and 11-9 overall. Worcester already has surpassed its win total (10) from last season. Westfield had its nine-game winning streak snapped and is 14-6 and 2-2.

In the second game, Worcester State trailed 3-1 when it pushed across a run in the sixth on two fielding errors and two sacrifice bunts.

In the top of the seventh, Mahoney gave the Lancers the lead when she hit a two-out, two-strike pitch over the center field fence for her two-run homer.

Mahoney earned her second pitching victory of the day when she entered the game in the third inning to silence a major Westfield scoring threat; the Owls scored twice in the inning to take a 3-1 lead. Mahoney hurled the final four and two-thirds innings, allowing three hits, no walks and striking out two.

Westfield out-hit Worcester, 11-6, but the Owls stranded 10 base runners. Leadoff batter Kerin DeGirolamo was 3 for 4 and Lisa Policelli, Kristyn Carroll and Alex Thompson each had RBI hits. Alicia Gardner and Kim Brennan were both 2 for 4.

Worcester leadoff batter Erica Cordio was 2 for 4 with a double and Mahoney was 2 for 3 with her big two-run homer.

Westfield sophomore Madelaine Tomich suffered her first loss of the season in nine decisions. She allowed two earned runs, walked two, and fanned three.

In the opener, Worcester jumped out to a 4-0 lead in the fifth with some timely hitting. In the third, Cordio and Jamie Jacobs both walked and Mahoney cracked a two-out, two-run double to left field.

The Lancers scored two more in the fifth on a two-run triple by Alex Kerr with two outs.

Westfield scored in the fifth on Brennan's two-run single and in the sixth on a two RBI double by Lisa Policelli.

Worcester scored the decisive two runs in the sixth and both were unearned on a two-out throwing error.

Kate Souder led the Lancers' eight-hit attack, going 3 for 4. Brennan was 3 for 4 with two RBI for the Owls.

Mahoney went the distance for the mound victory; she allowed six hits and two walks and fanned four. Losing pitcher Ashytny Welcome struck out 10 but gave up eight hits and five walks.

Box Score

WESTFIELD, Mass. – Junior Kristyn Carroll (Brockton) cracked a three-run double and sophomore pitcher Madelaine Tomich (Alford) fired a two-hitter to lead Westfield State to a 4-1 victory over Salem State in the semifinals of the MASCAC softball tournament on Saturday, May 8.

Westfield, 26-11, advances to Sunday's 12:00 p.m. championship game and it will host Salem State, which edged Framingham, 7-6, in Saturday's second elimination game. Westfield is undefeated in the double elimination tournament, and the MASCAC champ receives and automatic bid to the NCAA Division III Tournament. If Salem defeats Westfield in Sunday's 12:00 matchup, the team's will follow with a winner-take-all game.

Tomich and Salem sophomore Katelynn Fanning (East Boston) were locked in a pitching duel until Westfield scored four runs in the bottom of the sixth inning on just one hit, Carroll's bases clearing double.

In the Westfield's decisive sixth inning, Lisa Policelli (Tewksbury) drew a one-out walk and Kerin DeGirolamo (North Attleboro) reached safely on a throwing error by Fanning to place runners at second and third.

Junior third baseman Alicia Gardner (Athol) – the 2010 MASCAC player of the year – was intentionally walked to load the bases. Westfield senior shortstop Kim Brennan (Douglas) then hit a grounder to first base. The first baseman's throw for the forceout at homeplate was low and dropped by the catcher for an error, allowing Policelli to score and make it 1-0.

After a forceout at home for the second out, Carroll lofted a towering fly ball in the right-center field gap for a 4-0 Owl lead.

Tomich – the MASCAC pitcher of the year – allowed an unearned run in Salem's final at bat on a two-out walk, a fielding error that placed runners at first and third and a delayed steal of home.

It was Westfield's only error as it executed well defensively, including an unusual triple play in the fifth inning. With runners at first and second and no outs, Salem's Christina Cipriani bunted with two strikes. Gardner caught the bunt popup for the first out and doubled the runner off first for the second out. Thinking it was the final out of the inning, the Viking at second base started jogging off the field and was ruled out for running out of the basepaths.

Tomich struck out eight and walked three in boosting her record to 16-3. Fanning also threw a two-hitter, walking two and fanning six; her record is 18-5.

Gardner had Westfield's other hit, a first-inning single. Singling for Salem were Taylor Orlando (Danvers) and Lauren Garchinsky (Saugus).

Softball Academic Teams

At-Large Academic Teams

Westfield State junior Alicia Gardner (Athol) and junior Rachel Dionne (Feeding Hills/Agawam HS) have been selected to the ESPN The Magazine Academic All-District I teams.

Gardner was a first-team selection on the Academic All-District I softball squad and is now one of eight finalists for Academic All-America honors. Dionne, a member of the Westfield cross country and lacrosse teams, was a District I at-large second-team selection.

Gardner and Dionne were chosen for the prestigious scholar-athlete honor by members of the college sports information directors of America (CoSIDA). District I includes Division II and III colleges in New England, New York and northeast Canada.

On the playing field, Gardner was chosen the MASCAC softball player of the year and a first-team All-New England selection at third base. She led the Owls and ranked fourth in the MASCAC in hitting with a .425 average. She led the conference with five triples and ranked second in stolen bases (17) and on base percentage (.496). Defensively, Gardner only committed three errors from her hot corner spot at third base.

In the classroom, Gardner owns a 3.96 grade point average and is a business/marketing major. Furthermore, she is a member of the Westfield field hockey team and led the Owls in scoring.

Dionne ranked third in the New England Women's Lacrosse Alliance (NEWLA) in scoring (51 goals, 29 assists, 80 points). Team-wise, the hustling defender was first in goals scored and caused turnovers (24) and second in ground balls (42).

Dionne was also selected the NEWLA scholar-athlete of the year with a 3.99 cumulative grade point average. She is a mathematics major.

Thus far this academic year Westfield has had three student-athletes earn Academic All-District I honors. Senior Stephanie Bartkus was a second-team selection on the college division District I volleyball squad.

Westfield State's Parenzo Gym: An indepth view

By Thomas Taylor april 9, 2010
Voice Reporter

From early morning till mid afternoon, Parenzo's Gym consists of nothing but silence and emptiness. It is a complete open desolate basketball court, with no energy, no sweat, no competition, and no intensity. Maybe from time to time there will be a student eagerly cutting through the gym as if they are late to get to class; cluttered footsteps sound off in the distance, while doors open and shut with creaks and slams.

The smell in the air is prehistoric –a hint of rust, sweat, and wood –as if no one has stepped foot on this court in years. Every wave of sound that exists is echoed; from your footsteps to the second you put your backpack on the ground, the sound lingers, reminding you that no one is around.

Each day, classes generally begin to boil down around three o'clock; most students are usually done, and the leisure activities begin. Students head to the athletics side of campus for practice, students head to the library for studies, students head to work, and some students naturally head directly to Parenzo Gym.

One student enters; one basketball drops with an earsplitting thunderous slam. Another student enters with another ball. Then another. The thunder from the collaboration of the balls roars into the distance; it is as if three drummers have set up only their bass drums in corners of the gym, all playing different beats and interrupting each others rhythm. Loud tings, swishes and screeching footsteps complete this Parenzo Gym Orchestra as all of the individual sounds combine.

"Our teams were very proud to call Parenzo our home," said Andrea Bertini, the Women's Head Basketball Coach here at WSC. "The acoustics offered a great playing atmosphere and the size didn't require more than 40 people to make it feel like 1000."

Students show up to Parenzo with a certain sense of freedom when they choose to play there. They don't have to show up at a certain time, they don't have to take orders from a coach, and they don't have to run suicides up and down the court after each practice – for that matter, they don't even have to practice. Why do they then show up to Parenzo Gym every day after three and play basketball till late hours into the night?

"I think it serves a very important role on our campus," said Coach Bertini. "It gives the students another place to go in the evenings to have fun, shoot around without having to take a shuttle or walk in the cold to Woodward in the winter."

As Jay Augustino a senior at WSC, would put it, "for the love of the game."

Jay stands just less than 5'8" tall, has brown hair and is built like a point guard with wide shoulders and legs that move like a gazelle.

"There is something about getting a game together with your friends that just makes basketball more fun," Jay said assertively. "There is less stress, there are jokes, but at the same time we are still trying to win."

When enough players arrive at the Gym, a full-court game erupts. Ten players are playing at a time. Those ten were made up of what is called "shooting for teams" – a player shoots, makes the basketball, and he is on one team. The next player shoots, makes the basket, and he is on the other team. Students show up to Parenzo gym, shoot for teams, and play with different kids everyday.

"It's just the way things are done," said Jay. "It doesn't matter if you're on a team with all of your buddies or if you're on a team with no one you know; you are there to play basketball, to compete, and have fun."

Where else on campus is there a place where students from all over get together and join in on team work and competition together without even knowing each other?

Teams are selected and the gym begins to roar. Five-on-five is the name of the game. Back and fourth the players run to make plays. As the games by, more and more students pile in. As the winning team generally keeps playing after each game, "We've got winner" is the common way of solidifying the fact that you will place next.

If you had never seen a game of basketball, for that matter, or never even heard of it –you would probably categorize this as madness. Balls are shot from all areas on the court, defense is generally played only once the opposing team is setting up to score, and the ball has to be dribbled while moving; and don't forget the rules…you cannot touch the other player when he shoots.

Yet it is the complete opposite; everyone moves with a purpose –to get open, to set a pick, to score, to run a play –it is like putting together a puzzle every time you cross the half court line. The answer to the puzzle lies in how your execute your play, whom the ball is passed to, and who gets open. Intensity, precision, skill and leadership are completely essential to any team that strives for success.

Jay dribbles past half court; a defender plays up close on him, he crosses over to his right, the defender trips up, Jay looks for the open shot, he fakes, and then looks to the post, the defender backs down, the post is open. Pass, lay-up, and score. The play is a success.

"Every time I do a tour with a recruit I show Parenzo," said Coach Bertini. "Every time I do that there are people in there playing."

Bertini was a four year starter for the Owls, when they played their home games in Parenzo. A 1996 WSC graduate and a Westfield Athletics Hall of Fame inductee, Bertini's three-point shooting ability helped lead her team to two NCAA tournaments.

"I was a player who shot a lot," said Coach Bertini. "The rims were and are very friendly and because of the closeness of the walls you always feel you can hit a shot from anywhere."

"I wouldn't give back the Woodward Center because it is so beautiful and I appreciate it everyday," said Coach Bertini.

Although at the same time, she explained that she will forever look back on Parenzo with a lot of fond memories.

"It is fun to remember the fun and success we had in that gym," she stated.

In discussion of renovation for Parenzo, Jay sees no point.

"I think renovating the gym would be cool, but it is not exactly necessary, if its not broken there is no need to fix it," said Jay. "I think the age and smell of the place adds character to the gym."

Westfield State Student-Athlete For All Seasons

Rachel Ryan excels performing on the big stage.

The Westfield State junior music major is an accomplished singer, a track and field conference champion, and a standout for the championship Owl volleyball team.

In addition to her work ethic and passion for athletics - she competes and practices during the entire academic year in three sports – and a demanding academic major that requires her to attend classes more than 30 hours per week, Ryan also shines as a classmate and teammate.

"Rachel is very easy going and always laughing. She is liked by all of her teammates and the first one to congratulate someone after an event. She even cheers me on," said Westfield track and field head coach Sean O'Brien.

Ryan grew up in Westborough, Mass., where she became an athlete at a young age.

She played soccer, softball, basketball, and was even a youth cheerleader for 10 years, which eventually led her to her career as a volleyball player.

"At my high school if you didn't play sports or weren't into some sort of music field, you were considered weird. It was really out of the norm to not be involved," said Ryan.

As a high school freshman, Ryan had never played volleyball before and did not join the team right away; however, she soon realized she could apply her strength and passion to volleyball.

Ryan, along with Westfield State, is happy she chose volleyball. Like many young high school athletes, Ryan enjoyed the success and self-esteem she obtained from athletics. However, she had another passion and it was in the classroom - music. After that initial volleyball season, Ryan began track and field to stay in shape. But she quit basketball in order to perform in musicals, where she starred in "Guys and Dolls" and "Pirates in Penzance".

After graduating high school, Ryan chose to attend Westfield State over two other colleges.

Ryan said, "Westfield State was my top choice and I wanted to go somewhere where I could play volleyball and study music. The Woodward Center is a nice (athletic) facility and the professors are enthusiastic to help you succeed and work one –on—one."

Ryan was even interested in playing softball after being looked at very closely by Westfield's softball coach. She ultimately decided to compete in both indoor and outdoor track as well as volleyball.

It is a challenging schedule, competing and practicing during the fall, winter and spring sports season, and being a music major makes her schedule even more demanding.

"I know when I ask Rachel to do something and she consents I can count on her to fulfill her obligations fully and enthusiastically- she is a hard worker, and responsible. She does more than most people do who actually do two degrees," said vocal professor Dr. Mary Bonacci.

Her courses consist of choir, solo singing and instrumentals, where she plays percussion, saxophone, and the oboe. The high-level musician/athlete posts her daily schedule (15 total copies) all over her room in an effort to stay sane and organized.

Last fall Ryan was invited with seven other Westfield State students to sing with the Bay Path College Choir in Prague over Thanksgiving break. Ryan sang in Lichtenstein Palace, St. Nicholas Cathedral, and the Spanish Synagogue.

"I was able to attend operas, and sing solo for hundreds of people in the coolest places imaginable. No matter where we went we were always listening to music, even if it came from street players. It was an amazing trip that I was lucky enough to experience," she said.

The high-energy junior also enjoys performing at Westfield State. On Sunday, April 11, she and Tyler Cavanagh sang voice solos in Dever Auditorium. And Westfield State students, teammates and spectators also have an opportunity to hear her sing the national anthem prior to home volleyball games.

When Rachel isn't performing her music magic, she's working hard to achieve her athletic goals. Ryan finished her 2009 volleyball season by capturing the Massachusetts State Athletics Conference (MASCAC) tournament MVP honors. She averaged 2.70 kills per game in helping the Owls to the MASCAC championship and its first ever berth in the NCAA Tournament.

"Rachel plays at an outside position and it's the most contested and most competitive position in college. She was not starting in the beginning of this season, but she always kept positive and continued working hard and improving to earn that outside position," said Westfield volleyball coach Fred Glanville.

Ryan's junior season brought one of the biggest challenges to her volleyball career, as she participated with Division I players from all over the country at the USA Olympics Training Center in Colorado this past January.

"The hardest part was just going, because I was scared out of my mind and I didn't know what to expect. My first day there I got a touch on everything and I played great defense with Division I players from Penn State. The experience showed me that I can actually do this and my goal to attain a 10 foot jump is in close reach," said Ryan.

"Rachel is an extremely hard hitter. She smashes the ball. She is very passionate and an emotional player in a game or practicing; she wears her emotions on her sleeves. You know she loves volleyball and she works hard at it. Although, I don't think she considers it work, but rather a labor of love, which is why it's such a pleasure to coach her," said Glanville.

Her success continued during the most recent indoor track and field season as she won the MASCAC championships in the shot put (37-5 ¾) and weight throw (46-2). Ryan is always looking for new ways to improve her throwing techniques.

"She has improved tremendously, considering she didn't do weight throw in high school; she hopefully will qualify for nationals this season," said O'Brien.

"It's all about mentality. I have an expectation to go hard every minute," says Ryan.
